Vienna, Oct. 14.—While optimistic reports of progress made by Emperor Francis Joseph were received from the castle this morning, it is generally believed that the Emperor King

"SPOOK" SOCIETY HOLDS BIG MEETING

Spiritualists Gather at Washington To Hold Largest Meeting in History of Organization.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—The fifteenth annual convention of the National Spiritualists' Association, which began a five days' session in the Masonic Temple in this city today, promises to be by far the most important meeting ever held by the organization. Delegates representing many states faced President Harrison D. Barrett when he called the gathering to order at 10 o'clock this morning. The reports of the several officers were presented and discussed at the opening session. President Barrett outlined the legislation necessary for the work of the coming year and recommended that steps be taken by the incoming officers to call an international congress of the Spiritualists of the world, either in Paris or Berlin. It is proposed to hold the congress next April, which will be the sixtieth anniversary of the advent of Spiritualism in its present form.

Much interest is manifested in the report to be presented by a committee appointed last year to prepare a definition of terms for the Spiritualists of the United States. Ex-Congressman Schmitt of Maryland is the chairman of this committee. Another important matter to receive the attention of the convention is the question of ways and means to eradicate fraud from the movement as a whole. Confests are probable over the choice of new officers. The president and secretary are voluntarily retiring and there are numerous candidates for these positions.

The proposal to raise an endowment fund is expected to precipitate a lively discussion in the convention. Litigation caused by contests over the will of deceased Spiritualists is another matter of interest to be considered. An attempt will be made to form a union with other religious bodies of liberal tendencies and to bring the Spiritualists into more harmonious relations with the American Psychological Research Society.

Watch Vienna
It is known that all the Powers of Europe are watching Vienna closely and that with the death of Francis Joseph a revolution is liable to break out which may change the map of Europe. The ancient House of Hapsburg which has been on the throne of Austria since 1273 and for centuries dominated the whole of Europe is now believed to be losing its last great head.

Hungary Waiting
It is possible that Hungary will take advantage of the confusion which may follow Francis Joseph's death to declare itself free and independent and either establish a republic or a kingdom. Emperor William of Germany is said to be moving forward behind such a move and the time is now considered ripe.

The Heir
Francis Joseph's heir is a son of a younger brother, Prince Franz Ferdinand, who is married and not liked in Hungary. He became heir to the crown of the dual monarchy upon the death of his cousin, Prince Rudolph, who committed suicide near Vienna. Prince Rudolph was loved by the Hungarians who are now restless.

His Titles
Emperor Joseph's titles are many. He is styled "His Imperial and Apostolic Royal Majesty" being Emperor of Austria, King of Bohemia and Apostolic King of Hungary.

Washington, where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. F. C. Lamb. Ernest Stewart has gone to Milwaukee where he has accepted a position with the Hartman Furniture company as clerk.

Master Clyde, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Fairman, is sick with tonsillitis.

Miss Amanda Rutlin is here from San Francisco, the guest of Miss Boyum. Mrs. Wm. Olds and children came up from Deloit and spent a few days at the parental home this week.

Charming Picture Frame.
A pleasing design for a standing circular frame of water color paper is a group of three or four violets, bunched together, and then a connecting chain of stems reaching to a second little bunch, the same arrangement following around the entire frame at quite regular intervals.

Pettibone, the second of those charged with complicity in the murder of former Governor Steinberg to face the bar of justice. This matter has been taken in charge by the Agriculture Department at Washington, and the present convention will arrange to co-operate with the Agriculture Department in having the schools located in different parts of the country in order that all engaged in the business of horseshoeing may be able to take advantage of the course of scientific instruction which the schools offer.

JOHN R. WALSH TO BE PUT ON TRIAL SOON IN CHICAGO

Ex-Chicago Banker, After Two Years' Fight,
Will Be Tried Next Week For Alleged Misappropriations.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 14.—John R. Walsh, for many years one of the most influential men in Chicago, the democratic organ, disposed of the name and likeness, will be placed on trial in the federal court this week for alleged misappropriation of banking funds, which resulted in the wrecking of the Chicago National Bank, the Equitable Trust Company and the Home Savings Bank. It is expected that the prosecution of the former banker and millionaire will be vigorously pushed. The attitude of the federal authorities was made manifest by the recent statement of Attorney General Bonaparte that the government intended to prosecute offending bankers as vigorously as violators of other laws.

That Walsh will put up a hard fight against conviction goes without saying among all those acquainted with the man and his career. Even his most bitter enemies give him credit for being a good fighter. The fact that, at seventy years of age, with his fortune ruined, his banks wiped out of existence and with criminal charges hanging over his head, he has succeeded in completing the railroad and brought about his downfall, securing for it an entrance into Chicago in the face of almost insurmountable obstacles, shows the fighting qualities of the man.

It is a Chicago belief that John R. Walsh would rather fight than exist quietly. Certain it is that his entire career from the day he landed in Chicago as an immigrant boy has been one constant fight. He began selling newspapers at 10 years of age. Soon he had a news stand and in the course of time he extended the trade and added stocks of stationery and sporting goods. In 1881 he acquired a book and news store on one of the best corners of the city. From retailing he branched out into wholesaling. He was the largest distributing agent in town, and from the town he extended his territory to include all Illinois and then Indiana, and then with the Western News Company, all the Middle West. This company was absorbed by the American News Company of New York.

Having obtained a considerable fortune he was prepared for other ventures. He invested in the Chicago Inter Ocean, became a director in the National Bank of Illinois, founded the Chicago National bank in 1882, sold his interest in the Inter Ocean to H. H. Kohlsaat, purchased the Chicago Herald, started the Chronicle as a democratic organ, disposed of the Herald and of its evening edition, the Post, meantime multiplying his interests in other banks, in politics, coal contracts, gas companies, traction, quarries, baseball, and so on.

He backed the Chicago Base Ball club, the league organization in the days of Spalding and Hart and was one of the leading spirits in the Washington Park Club. The failure of the National Bank of Illinois in 1898, a catastrophe which may have laid to rest a large part of the deposits. Up to this point in his career he had apparently succeeded in everything he had undertaken. He was unyielding and his temperament thoroughly unbusinesslike. He never forgot or forgave an enemy, but he usually broke him.

The turning point came when some years ago he acquired the great stone quarry at Bedford, Ind., and developed the insignificant Southern Indiana railroad to bring his stone products to market. Incidentally he destroyed to get even with the Monon railroad and in the course of his fight he developed the ambition to throw a trunk line from Pittsburg to Kansas City.

Early in December, 1905, the crash came. The doors of the three Walsh banks were closed, and announcement was made that his liabilities amounted to $15,000,000. The Chicago Clearing House Association stepped in and saved the depositors from loss. Walsh was accused of robbing the people's treasury to promote his railroad. Compelled to resign, he fled to the city, but not criminal proceedings would be brought against the banker. But later the matter was brought before the federal grand jury and Mr. Walsh was indicted criminally. He was charged among other things with misappropriation of funds by means of "dummy" notes, and with falsifying bank statements. For two years John R. Miller, the famous defender of the Standard Oil company, has fought every inch of the ground to keep Walsh from trial. But after months of delay and unavailing motions to quash, to give a bill of particulars, to annul, the former banker will next week be called to the bar of justice to answer for his alleged misdeeds. His defense, it is understood, will be largely a technical one.

STOCKS SHOW EFFECT OF GRUELLING ON SATURDAY

Nervous And Gloomy Attitude Of Wall Street,
Brightened By Rapid Rise.

New York, Oct. 14.—There was a nervous gloomy atmosphere in the neighborhood of the stock exchange before the trading began today, as the fears of the general smash in consequence of the unsupported condition of the market revealed in Saturday's demoralizing slump.

Violent breaks in the opening prices of the stocks therefore caused no surprise, but the promptly rising disclosure some measure that effective support was there brought a quick feeling of partial relief. The rebound was convulsive and carried many of the stocks well over Saturday's closing level.

Before Judge Grimm in circuit court this afternoon the case of Thos. F. McKeligue, an administrator of the estate of the late Switchman Edward Broderick, vs. the C. & N. W. Ry. Co., which was returned by the supreme court to the lower court for a decision, was argued by Atty. E. W. Ryan for the plaintiff and Atty. Edward M. Hoyer of Milwaukee, for the defendant. Johanna Murphy, the only heir, settled with the company on a basis of $1,000 for the anguish and suffering endured by the deceased during the time which elapsed after the accident and before his death. But debts amounting to about $600 are collectible first from the personal property and the company's possible liability is counted as an asset to the personal property.

Tomorrow morning the court will listen to an appeal from county court in the matter of the estate of E. W. Golden, deceased. Atty. Geo. W. Smith will appear for the appellant, and Atty. William Smith for the claimants.

Minors M. Dohs has been granted a decree of divorce from Martha Dohs, the custody of three minor children, and defendant is to pay for their support.

THE MAINE REMONSTRANCE

The following paragraphs are taken from the "Remonstrance Against the Granting of Suffrage to Women," which was written by Thos. S. Moody of Portland, and endorsed by the Maine Committee Opposed to the Extension of Suffrage for Women, for presentation to the Maine legislature at the 1907 session:

"The suffragists know, as do we all, that when the majority of women want a thing done, that thing is done for them immediately. Then why have they been for so many years beseeching legislatures, presenting petitions, working, arguing and, recently in London, fighting for their rights, as they call them. Simply because the majority of women are not behind the movement and the legislators all know it."

"If women were given an opportunity to work in opposition to men, which would appear to be the case if the female vote is to bring about anything of a change, the evil effects of such a conflict would strike at the very foundation of our social order, since there are not many homes which would be improved by the introduction of an antagonistic political element."

"We believe that both men and women are entitled to the best of the schools and colleges afford, but it does not follow that each is to bear the same burdens or enter the same field of labor. Here, as well as anywhere, we may quote from the message to congress of our honored President Roosevelt, in which he said: 'The prime duty of man is to be the breadwinner; the prime duty of woman is to be the mother and housewife. All questions of tariff and finance sink into utter insignificance when compared with the vital importance of trying to shape conditions, so that the duties of the man and woman can be fulfilled under reasonably favorable circumstances.'"

"The woman who is busy making a government must leave undone that work for which she was created, and for which the government alone exists, namely, the protection and preservation of the home and family, for her best energy will be steadily flowing away from this important channel. She may either give her time, thought, and strength to the making of laws which form our government, or to the building up of mankind, upon whom must rest, in years to come, the public burdens of the state and nation, both industrial and social. But when she attempts to do both at one and the same time, her work will be worth very little, since the accomplishments of a tired, nervous, and overworked woman are never those to which we point with pride and satisfaction."

"The Massachusetts Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Suffrage to Women" has extended its influence and now has active organizations in a dozen different states. It is doing effective work, and is entitled to loyal support. The women of the country are not clamoring for suffrage."

The Jamestown exposition is a financial failure. Of the million dollars loaned by the government, only $100,000 has been paid, and the chances are that the balance will be lost. The management has expended most of its energy in scrapping among the officers. It is about time for the government to go out of the exposition business."

The Hollet newspapers have come out with a long article about a strong opposition being organized to fight the reelection of Senator Whitehead to the state senate. Maybe Whitehead does not want the job and if he does it is safe to say the little thing of a fight will not count for much in opposition."

Hollet and Janesville never seem to be able to agree on any subject—baseball or size of bank deposits. Rowdy baseball is just what kills the game in any community and the six hundred Hollet fans who intimidated the umpire in the Sunday game at Yost's park are killing the sport as dead as a snail."

The city attorney of Madison takes opportunity to crack President Van Hise over the knuckles for lack of discipline of his students in moving for the discharge of four students arrested for hazing."

Now that the Dugan trial is over and the morbid curiosity of the community has been satisfied by the disgusting testimony brought out, the Hollet freemen's squabble will be interesting."

Millon may have that Interurban yet. The project is not dead and the promoters say they expect to build it and may go by way of the college town."

Chicago police are to stop gambling? This is becoming a joke. When many of the employees of the force gamble themselves how can they make others stop?"

That Indian summer so much advertised and so eagerly sought after has evidently disappeared from the face of the earth along with the Indians."

Now that the county fairs are over how is Sherbie Becker going to be able to continue his crusade of teaching the farmers that he is the only man for Governor?"

It is a game crowd that can take a defeat and come up smiling. This is one of the benefits of school and college sports. It teaches the students to take defeat without becoming grumblers."

Soon the revolting details of Evelyn Thaw's life will again be told on the witness stand in the vain hope of freeing her degenerate husband."

The work on the new state capitol at Madison is progressing nicely. The place where the heat is to come from has been bought at last."

It is fortunate for the county that the good people of Evansville possess enterprise enough to keep a fair in existence."

Football can now take the front of the stage in so much as the World's series are over and the Cubs have won."

If you want to see a piece of road building put up in the good old-fashioned way, go out on Rager avenue."

The work on the new yards is now past the problematic stage and is really worth viewing."

The coal men do not mind this weather in the least. In fact, they rather enjoy it."

Milwaukee has just begun a crusade of extolling the virtues of its manufactures."

That county fair and home-coming project is not dead—merely sleeping."

Willing to Be Magnanimous. Chicago News: Really, we have nothing against Detroit. It is a nice little town."

Whow, What a Whopper! Edgerton Tobacco Reporter: According to the new directory which Hollet is sending, the population of that city is seventeen thousand."

Prelude to Grand Ensemble. St. Louis Globe-Democrat: A waterway 7 feet deep will shortly be opened from Hennepin on the Illinois river to Rock Island on the Mississippi, constructed by the United States government at a cost of $7,500,000. Uncle Sam is tuning up for the grand overture."

Popular—Away from Home. Milwaukee News: Having addressed 350,000 farmers in the course of his good roads speeches, Mayor Becker may feel that he's as good as elected to anything that he wants outside of the city of Milwaukee."

The Stinky Flocks. Appleton Post: The fact brought out at the recent conference of the Methodist church that the average salary paid to ministers in the conference is something like $700 to $800 must be considerable of a discouragement to young men to enter the ministry."

Typhoid and Oysters. Chicago Tribune: Two million bushels of oysters are taken every year from the waters of New York bay and the adjacent channels into which the sewage of New York is discharged. The New York bay pollution commission examined thousands of oysters from these beds a few years ago and could not find one free from typhoid fever germs."

Getting into Algebra. La Crosse Chronicle: We are not so sure about property that was worth $2 before the paying being worth 2x after the paying, but everybody knows that if the taxes are x this year under the existing order of things they will be x plus y next year, x plus 2y the year following, x plus 3y the year after that, and so on. And it is high time we began to keep down the value of y."

Has Divorce Suits A-Plenty. Evening Wisconsin: The marriage on a trolley car reported from Hollet is fresh evidence of the lightness with which some people regard what should be considered the most important of all circumstances. This matrimonial whimsicality naturally suggests the case with which some people "slip the trolley" and take divorce paths after having sworn to abide with each other until death."

Partell's Opportunity. Green Bay Gazette: The state fire marshal is having an excellent opportunity to show his ability as the result of seven incendiary fires in succession at Hollet. It has been necessary to offer a reward of one hundred dollars for the arrest of the firebug in the case and a diligent search is now under way in the hope of locating him. Fire Marshal Partell has been called into the case and has visited Hollet several times. His investigation has been made with the aid of those directly concerned in the fires and also with Hollet officials."

Evansville Welcomes the J. H. S. Evansville Times: For the first time in many years Evansville has succeeded in getting Janesville to come to Evansville to play football. Last year Evansville defeated Janesville on their home grounds 6 to 0, but Janesville, according to a three-hundred custom, kicked and howled and finally decided, among themselves, that the score was 0 to 0. However they did not convince the on-lookers to think the same. Great preparations are being made, both by the home team and visitors."

Squabble Still Is On. Hollet Free Press: The "real" editorial writer of the contemporary produced another salvo last night, which by the way, the editor would not allow to be printed in the editorial column—in which he shows symptoms of worry over the attitude of the Free Press on the freemen's investigation. He is terribly concerned lest this paper give somebody credit for something. And he is dense enough to admit that he cannot see that the incendiary fires are a source of worry and annoyance to the freemen. He scoffs at the statement "the boys and their horses must have some rest."

New John Dietz Arrives in North. La Crosse Leader-Press: The result of the failure of the officers of Sawyer county and the state of Wisconsin to enforce the law against

John Dietz is shown in an incident in Hayfield county, where a farmer has taken possession of a part of a country road, claiming it is over his land and refusing to allow anyone to cross until the county has settled with him at his own figures. Persons attempting to use the highway are driven back at the point of a gun. The man in question, Arnt Hanson, naturally reasons that as 10c is held up the county and state, there is no good reason, if his courage keeps up, why he cannot do the same. And indeed there is not. There was not a shadow of excuse for the disgraceful part that Sawyer county and the state played in the Dietz affair. There is no good reason why it should not be attempted everywhere in the state, except that all initiators have not the cool courage of Dietz and other counties may not be depended upon to elect, year after year, officers with the chicken hearts possessed by those of Sawyer county."

IT PAYS TO GET YOUR EYES OPEN.

"Dr. Richards, what will you charge to crown this tooth for me?" said a party to the Dentist the other day. She was from a neighboring city and evidently had her eyes wide open on dental prices.

"$5," was the reply.
"All right; go ahead and fix it," said she.

"They charge $10 in my town and here I can come to Janesville and have a whole day looking at the new fall styles in the stores, get my tooth fixed up and have enough money left to get me a new hat."

BIRD SOCIETY TO PLEAD FOR CROWS

CRUSADE MAY SPREAD INTO WISCONSIN VERY SHORTLY.

ILLINOIS FARMERS LISTEN

Much Despised Bird with Premium on Its Head is Really a Help to Rural Communities.

If the finding of the Audubon society is correct the Rock county farmers who have been waging a merciless war on the poor crow for the ten-cent-a-head blood money, have been doing themselves a great wrong.

County treasurers all over the state have paid various sums for the heads of the little black pests as they have been called and it is only recently that the law was changed so that this work was done by the town chairmen where the hunters reside.

The wholesale slaughter has aroused the friends of the birds in Illinois, where a five-cent bounty exists, and they will make a strong fight at the coming special session of the legislature to repeal the law. It is admitted that the crow is a robber of now planted corn, and also of the young of other birds and chickens, but it is months that during the summer upon the gray subsists largely upon insects which produce the destructive white grub.

The crow also devours large quantities of grasshoppers and grub worms. P. E. L. Reed of the department of agriculture says that "in the more thickly settled parts of the country the crow probably does more good than harm." State Entomologist Forster, in reporting a careful farm study of Illinois birds, concludes that none but the English sparrow should be destroyed. He found that the winter birds were more largely useful in the destruction of weed seed than the summer birds. He also says that the destruction of insects, weeds, and animal pests by the birds is a valuable relation that should not be disturbed.

Bird Lovers Take up Fight
The Illinois Audubon society has rallied to the defense of the crow and all other birds and has protested to the state game commissioner against the organized hunts as frequently arranged in the various counties of the state. Besides crows, doves, hawks, and blackbirds are killed.

The Illinois Farmers' Institute is offering evidence to show how these birds serve the farmer. The common mourning dove or "pigeon dove" is especially valuable. Of the 237 stomachs of these birds examined, it was found that 95 per cent of their food consisted of seed. In one stomach were found 1,500 seeds of yellow corn. The doves destroy great quantities of the seeds of pigeon grass, ragweed, smartweed, blind weed, and many other kinds. Every time a farmer kills a dove, he sacrifices one of his most useful friends. The few bites of meat furnished are no return for the removal of such an inoffensive and useful life.

The redwing blackbird takes some grain, 10 per cent of its food, but seven-eighths of its food is made up of weed seed or insects injurious to agriculture, indicating that the bird should be protected. The crow blackbird, which is eligible to destruction, according to the Illinois state legislature, is guilty of taking some grain, but fully one-half is waste grain. One-third of the contents of the several thousand stomachs examined showed a mass of insects, all injurious to farm products.

Even "Hen-Hawks" Useful
In the spring the crow blackbird follows the plow and eats large quantities of grub worms. Nearly two-thirds of the hawks and owls of the United States are beneficial. The marsh hawk is one of the most valuable. The red-tailed hawk and the sharp-shinned hawk, both known as "hen-hawks," do, occasionally, in poultry, but the quantity is small in comparison with the number of destructive rodents consumed. Many kinds of ground squirrels, mice, shrews, etc., were found in the stomachs of the red-tailed hawk, while not more than 7 per cent of its food consists of poultry.

It is believed that a large proportion of the poultry and game captured by it and the other buzzard hawks is made up of old, diseased, or otherwise disabled fowls. The red shouldered hawk is valuable to the farmer and should be protected and fostered. The screech owl should be protected, as three-fourths of its food consists of injurious mammals and insects. Of the birds found in the stomachs examined most were English sparrows. The rough leg hawk is one of the farmers' most important allies against meadow mice. It feeds upon little else.

The squirrel hawk disposes of a large number of meadow mice, squirrels, and destructive rodents. The harmful birds comprise the godhawk, the Cooper hawk, and the sharp-shinned hawk. The great horned owl is both good and bad at times. The golden eagle, bald eagle, pigeon hawk, Richardson hawk, two falcons, and the green horned owl for one group that is partly beneficial and partly harmful. No argument is made for protecting these birds of doubtful character.

WOULD LIKE TO BE ONE.
A trust must be an awful thing. An evil thing, they say; It takes the people's money in, And puts it all away. It never wants for anything, It always has the dust; It never has to run in debt— I wish I were a trust.

This predatory wealth is bad, The President declares; The full of vicious tendencies, Malicious plots and snares. And yet 'twould buy ten tons of coal, And pay my tailor's bills— I wish some predatory wealth Were resting in my till.

We've heard about mendacious men, In speech and song and joke; And yet I'm sure we've never heard That they were ever broke. So when the bill collectors call, To dun me, goodness gracious! I can't be blamed for wishing I Were just a bit mendacious. —Detroit Free Press.

Would Have to Shout.
The man who puts on the earmuffs of pleasure and profligacy can't be expected to hear the still, small voice of conscience.

"Why Is It?"
The seats were in the orchestra, on the theater's left. "The left side of the house always sells out first," said the box-office man. "Everybody seems to prefer it to the right. I don't know why. Boxes, especially. We can sell two left to one right box every time. Nobody takes the right side for choice. And there is no reason for this. As much goes on in the right extremity of the stage as in the left—we proprietors always look after that—and you see just as much from the right as from the left side. Why, then, is the left side always at a premium?"

The Real Century.
Gunner—"Harker says there were more wonderful inventions discovered in the nineteenth century and Brown says there were more discovered in the eighteenth. Which do you think has been the most useful century?"

Guyer—"Don't know, but I can tell you which will be the most useful century any old time." Gunner—"which?" Guyer—"Why, a century bill."

A Preposterous Suggestion.
"How many inhabitants has Crimmon Gulch, according to the latest census?" inquired the tourist. "There hasn't been no census in Crimmon Gulch," answered Broncho Rob. "You don't suppose anybody would be fool enough to go through this town with a note book asking all them personal questions, do you?"

CAUTION

We warn the man or woman who has a comfortable account in the bank against drawing that money for questionable investment enterprises. The majority of people are not able to judge every offer of promoters. When you buy stocks or other securities from a stranger you are running a risk and besides you are paying a price that means good profit to the seller. Good bargains don't go begging.

On the other hand, your money in a sound bank is absolutely safe, draws a stated and reasonable amount of interest, and you may add small or large sums from time to time or withdraw any part whenever necessary.

Our facilities for your convenience and service are unexcelled, and we are glad to be of any assistance at any time by way of consultation and advice.
